

GET RELIEF FROM...

THE BREAKUP ROUTINE

with REBEKAH FREEDOM

You know the routine. Right after your break-up, you're sad and you're mad, and some really bad ideas start to sound like good ones... like calling up your ex... or stalking your ex... or hiring somebody to...

DON'T! Break up that old routine by coming out to hear Rebekah Freedom's routine. The author of Breakup Rehab: Creating the Love You Want, Rebekah is a "stand-up counselor" with some funny lines and healing insights to share. And she's coming to a hangout near you...

REBEKAH FREEDOM McCLASKEY, MA is a breakup specialist whose private practice focuses on helping clients get what they want out of life and love. She earned her Masters degree in Counseling from Naropa University in Boulder, Colorado, where she lives. Her book Breakup Rehab (New World Library) is available in bookstores everywhere, and she'll be signing copies at this event. Even if you're not broken up, this is a routine about life, love, heartbreak, and starting fresh that you don't want to miss!
